1. $50 1861 CSA, T-4 Montgomery. An ultra-cool example of an ultra-scarce note. This note has the giant rubber stamp cancellation on the face and the back has the endorsement of Custom House New Orleans. PMG VF 20. $9995

2. $20 1863 LT, Fr.126b, Liberty w/Sword + Shield. Lovely early Legal with great eye appeal, far better than average margins, and vivid colors. Faces up like an original Unc; offered at a fraction of the price. Interest-free terms available. PMG Ch Abt Unc 58..... $11,995

3. $20 1863 LT, Fr.126, Liberty w/Sword + Shield. Scarce note from the Civil War era with only 50 reported in the census in all grades. Many come with objectionable flaws, but despite the comment of 'minor restoration' on this one, we are unable to identify any evidence of a cosmetically-improved imperfection. Note looks great from both sides. PMG VF 25..... $6450

4. $10 1880 LT, Fr. 113, Jackass. Turn it upside down and watch the eagle evolve into a floppy-eared donkey. Exceptional Paper Quality designation earned on this fully-original and wildly popular design. PMG Gem Unc 65EPQ. $3995

5. $10 1880 LT, Fr. 110. "Jackass" note boasts cherry red seal, blue serials, spot on centering and genuinely appears nicer than the assigned grade. Ideal candidate for any circulated type set. PMG VF 30..... $1995

6. $1 1875 LT, Fr.26, Pink Filigree. Early ace with the pink filigree that's often sought by collectors. PCGS-B Ch AU 58..... $1595

7. $1 1878 LT, Fr.27, Pink Filigree. Nearly identical to above, but this one crossed the Unc threshold. PMG Ch Unc 63. $1595

8. $1 1880 LT, Fr. 30, Brown Spiked Seal. Large brown seal on this Bruce-Wyman signed ace that has only a tiny whisper of a center bend. PMG Abt Unc 55..... $1495

9. $2 1880 LT, Fr. 51, Pearl Bracelet. Same seal design and would pair perfectly with above. Looks Unc. PMG Ch Abt Unc 58..... $1950

10. $1 1891 TN, Fr. 352, Stanton. Perfectly original open back Treasury Ace with a prominent paper wave and deep embossing which earned it the coveted Exceptional Paper Quality. PMG Gem Unc 65EPQ.. $2495

11. $2 1891 TN, Fr. 357, McPherson. Bold inks appear on his delightful deuce that face up considerably nicer than its assigned grade. PCGS-B VF 30. $1595

12. $5 1891 TN, Fr. 364, Thomas. General Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga," serves as the central image on this note with broad margins, wonderful paper originality, and embossing of the serials and seal.PMG Ch Unc 63EPQ. $2995

13. $20 1864, Fr. 191a, CITN. Of the 61 pieces known, only 4 are graded nicer. Though some restorations are noted by PCGS, this piece does not exhibit any major internal problems caused mainly by the deterioration of the bronzing encountered on mid-grade Compound Interest Notes. This pleasing type is dated Oct. 15, 1864. The Greensheet offers a wholesale price of $26k in VF 20--we're proud to offer this for considerably less. PCGS VF 30..... $24,950

14. $1 1918 FRBN, Fr.709, Heraldic Eagle-Boston. Note presents as an attractive Unc example. PMG Abt Unc 55. $745

15. $1 1918 FRBN, Fr.737, Heraldic Eagle-Kansas City. Teetering on the cusp of Gem, just like the KC Chiefs, this is a winner, too! PMG Ch Unc 64..... $645

16. $2 1918 FRBN, Fr.757, Battleship-Cleveland. An iconic deuce that has bright paper and an above-average appearance for the grade. PCGS VF 25..... $895

17. $10 1886 SC, Fr.294, Tombstone. Only 83 pcs in census for this scarcer lg. red spiked seal variety. Comment-free + attractive with Hendricks at center and beautiful ornate back. PMG VF 25..... $2495

18. $1 1896 SC, Fr.224, Educational. "History Instructing Youth."Generous margins for a series that comes tight. PCGS-B Ch Unc 63PPQ..... $3495

19. $1 1896 SC, Fr. 224, Educational. Same great design as above, but more affordable. PMG Fine 12 $425

20. $2 1896 SC, Fr.248, Educational. "Science presents Steam + Electricity to Commerce + Manufacture" New purchase with a great look! Hasn't had time to be graded yet, but it's a solid VF..... $1995

21. $2 1896 SC, Fr.248, Educational. An affordable example of an iconic design that quickly becomes out of reach in higher grades. PMG Good 6. $525

SIGNIFICANT SERIALS:

22. $1 1977 FRN Serial Number One-H0000001B. It's hard to imagine one any nicer. This note has seemingly perfect margins, crisp corners, and the ultimate SN. Oh, and let's not forget the true cherry on top—PMG Superb Gem Unc 67EPQ. . $9995

23. $1 1963-A FRN, Serial Number One-L0000001C. Preserved in an ideal collector grade with a seemingly Unc appearance. Great choice! PMG Abt Unc 55..... $4950

24. $10 1999 FRN Serial Number One-BK0000001B. Big Head Design is very scarce for SN1s; this note presents several points above its assigned grade is a perfect opportunity to add a SN1 on a very attractive, gently handled note. PCGS-B EF 40... $4995

25. $1 1969-C FRN Serial Number Two-D0000002B. Exponentially scarcer than SN1s as many were pulled for quality control at the BEP. Only SN 2 we've had in years. PMG Ch Unc 64EPQ..... $2795

26. $1 2003-A FRN, Ladder-F87654321H. A complete 8-1 down ladder with even boardwalk margins that barely arrived in time to be included! PCGS-B Gem Unc 66PPQ..... $2795

EXCITING ERRORS:

27. $2 1976 FRN, Double Print Deuce. Arguably the most dramatic US error ever produced. This sheet was fed through the overprint twice with 2 sets of different serial numbers, seals, and district numbers. Preserved in pristine condition. Certain to become the pinnacle of the collection it enters. PMG Gem Unc 65EPQ. $19,995

28. $20 1977 FRN, Double Print Error. An exceptional mistake with the face printing applied twice offering a dramatic and scarce error. PMG Abt Unc 55EPQ. $3995

29. $10 1993 FRN, Double Print Error. No need to wipe your eyes, this 'drunken Hamilton' will still look just as blurry. It received not one, but two, second printings making the face look distorted! Note looks Unc. PCGS EF 45PPQ..... $2995

30. $10 1985 FRN, Double Print Error. Similar to the items above, this note received an additional printing, but rather than the face, this is a doubled back print! Pairs perfectly with the above options or a great one to add independently. PMG VF 30..... $2950

Two Banks, One Small Town

This very high-grade Series of 1902 $10 national bank note was issued by the First National Bank of Rockwood and is a recent addition to the author's collection. Note the nice signatures of J.R. Shanks and H.F. Berkbile.

This month we will continue a visit to Western Pennsylvania to visit a town from which I just added a very nice grade large note to my collection. In rural Somerset County, southeast of Pittsburgh and close to the Maryland line, let's visit quaint Rockwood, Penn.

Rockwood is a borough in Somerset County, Pennsylvania. The population was 850 at the 2020 census. It is around 57 miles southeast of Pittsburgh and easily reached from U.S. Route 219 via State Route 653. It is located due north of Pennsylvania's highest peak, Mount Davis, and around 10 miles north of the Maryland state line.

Rockwood was initially known as Shaff's Bridge and then Mineral Point. John Rockwood was an original settler, and the town is named for him. Farmers and lumbermen were originally drawn to the area by the fertile land and abundant natural resources. Philip Wolfersberger built a house in what is now Rockwood in 1856, and he laid out the town in 1857 with Martin Meyers serving as the primary surveyor. 1868 saw the development of a post office, Henry Werner built a tannery in 1869, and a railroad depot was built in 1871. Philip Stauffer Wolfersberger, a son of the above Philip Wolfersberger, was a ticket agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad (B&O) and was instrumental in getting the current name of Rockwood to take hold. A view of Mineral Point / Rockwood appeared in a collection of photographs from along the B&O's lines that was published in book form in 1872.

In the late 19th Century, Rockwood experienced significant growth as a result of the industrial revolution. The Rockwood Mill, a textile factory, was built in 1891 and attracted many workers to the area. The mill played a large role in the development of the town and in recent years was converted into the Rockwood Mill Shoppes and Opera House, which has become a tourist attraction. Rockwood also had a thriving coal industry. The Rockwood Electric Generation Station was built in 1904 and continues to operate today. It continues to be a major employer in the area.

The considerable economic activity in Rockwood resulted in the founding of not one but two national banks. The First National Bank of Rockwood, charter #5340, opened in May of 1900, a typical Gold Standard Act bank. It was closed by the receiver on April 20, 1934. In the 34 years of its operations, it issued a paltry $512,000 in notes, of which just $25,000 was outstanding at the close. I recently obtained a rather Choice XF large size note on this bank, which nicely filled my slot for this small bank. I have included a photo with this article. Note the strong signatures of J.R. Shanks, cashier, and H.F. Berkbile, president. The current census shows 5 large and 4 small notes reported, of which my large note is the finest known by far.

In May of 1910, Rockwood's

second bank, the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, received charter #9769 and opened for business across the street from the First National. The F&M was converted from the Rockwood Savings Bank. It operated for 24 years, interestingly closed by the receiver on the same day as the First National. Both banks have similar statistics; the F&M issuing $411,000 in notes, a figure equal to the First National if one considers the 10-year difference from their openings. The current census shows 3 large and 9 small reported. I have included a photo of a very nice large size note that recently appeared in auction.

Notes from both banks are scarce, with large size notes particularly dear. I bought my Rockwood note because it was high grade, something that is hard to find on these scarce small town issuers.

Rockwood is a classic pleasant small town located in a lovely setting with many outdoor activities, from hiking and fishing to boating and camping, all available in the environs. The Great Allegheny Passage, a 150-mile trail connecting Pittsburgh to Cumberland, Maryland, passes by Rockwood and is easily accessed for

Even though it was a rather small town, Rockwood, Penn. supported two national banks. The Farmers and Merchants National Bank was chartered in 1910. Here is a nice grade large size $10 note issued by the bank. (Photo courtesy Heritage Auctions)

LARGE & SMALL ERRORS

$1 dramatic Fold Error, 1969B N.Y. PMG Gem Unc 66 PPQ (photo below, R). This note has everything! Selvage #7401 SW at bottom, wonderful centering of the front serial #, black seal & district # within the folder back selvage that was at the top, to say nothing of the grade. Had you ordered this from the B.E.P., you couldn't have asked for a better job! Well worth.....2,750.00

$10 FR#932 Obstructed Printing Error (photo above L). We've enlarged the relevant portion of this decent VF+ 1914 St. Louis Error. Must have been a scrap of paper or something that caused a small NW area of the blue seal to be missing along with 3 digits of the right serial # to be impacted. Additionally, there are breaks in the field also caused by the wavy foreign piece that's about 2" long. 3 digits of the Serial # were impacted by the obstruction, including the second digit of the "519". The central "1" has an approximately 1/16" blue mark drawn in to make the "1" look normal (Fortunately, they stopped there!) Was this the Mint??? Of course, we've seen blue crayon on mint-released errors before, but not on large size. PMG grades this a Choice VF35 Obstructed Printing Error, minor ink added. All Large Errors are rare. This one should be worth.....850.00

COLONIALS, CONTINENTALS & MISC.

Please Note: A formidable selection is to be found in our giant 14-page January ad.

$20 Continental 5/10/1775 (photos above). Arguably America's most popular and historical note, pictured (not this particular copy) on the front of the Newman catalog. These were printed on paper furnished by Benjamin Franklin, and all feature the marbling/polychrome multi-colored vertical strip on the left side. Franklin also sketched the face and back emblems and mottos, which also appear on other issues. Newman catalogs these as: Fine $7,500, VF $17,500 and XF $35,000. The note pictured above is quite clean for the issue. PCGS grades this VF 35 w/restorations noted. These are not at all obvious and do NOT include, as far as we can see, any design redrawing, added prints, etc., but rather a few fixed splits that are not easily noticeable. This wonderfully margined example is only8500.00

$3 Georgia bicolor 1777 (photo below, R). Lovely PMG XF 40. Catalos 2,000 in XF, w/no higher grades listed. Actually a beautiful AV+/XF for only1,350.00

$30 GA 5/4/1778 (photo below, L) A gorgeous, grossly under graded, premium tricolor 5X ample w/5 lovely sigs, including William Few, who went on to sign the U.S. Constitution a decade later. Great margins & color for the issue. The boar running into spear vignette is decently embossed w/nice blue-grey color, and crystal clear. PMG calls this a net choice VF 35 w/internal repairs, which look like a couple of pinholes (have to see). Super eye appeal and paper quantity suggest a much higher grade. Only.....1,595.00 a short or long hike. The Casselman River runs through town and is a fun boating attraction.

The main part of Rockwood centers on Main Street (Rt. 653 in town) and the two old banks are easy to find, across the street from each other at 679 and 682 Main Street. The old First National Bank, next door to the Rockwood post office, is a stand-alone two-story brick façade structure which, at the time of my visit, was for sale. It appeared it had housed a barber shop at one time, given the presence of a barber pole affixed to the building. The For Sale sign indicated it also had upstairs apartments. I have included a vintage photo of the bank circa 1910 and a view of the building today.

The Farmers and Merchants National Bank building is across the street, the corner of a larger commercial block. The building originally housed the Rockwood Savings Bank, which converted to national status in 1910. The entrance is classic bank, with a fancy frieze pediment and two impressive columns flanking the door. It is a three-story affair, but has been converted, with the rest of the building, to apartments.

One of Rockwood's most familiar and historic sites was the Merchants Hotel, a block-long 3-story brick structure at 703 Main Street. The hotel was erected in 1882 by Samuel Buckman at a cost of $10,000. Buckman was in the construction business, mainly railroad bridges, and his hotel was the finest structure in the area. I have included a photo of it. Unfortunately, the hotel building fell on hard times, and reverted to county control when it could not be sold at tax sale due to its deteriorated condition. It became a safety hazard, and the county slated it to be torn down in 2014. Another historic structure lost to abandonment.

(RIGHT) Here is a photo of the First National Bank of Rockwood building as it appears today in town, not all that much changed from the 1905 view. Once housing a barber shop and apartments, the building was for sale at the time of the author's visit.

The Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Rockwood was across the street from the First National Bank. It occupied an older block, as it was the successor to the Rockwood Savings Bank. Here is how the building appears in Rockwood today.

Not far from Rockwood is the site of the Quecreek Mine Accident and Rescue Site. On July 24, 2002, coal miners accidentally broke into a flooded mine and 9 miners were trapped 240 feet below the surface for over 77 hours until they were rescued. Visitors may access the rescue site and visitor center.

Rockwood is a lovely small town with easy living and affordable homes. It is only 35 miles east of the luxury Nemaquin Resort and a few miles north of the Maryland line, easily accessible to Cumberland, Maryland. The crime rate is close to zero and the town is easily accessible to major roads and highways. If you are passing nearby on the way to Pittsburgh or Morgantown, W.V.

from points east, a short detour to Rockwood and the nearby historic towns of Garrett and Meyersdale, is highly recommended.

Readers may address questions or comments about this article or national bank notes in general to Mark Hotz directly by email at markbhotz@gmail.com.

The substantial Merchants Hotel, located up the street from the banks, was erected in 1882 and was evidence of the considerable commerce done in the Rockwood area at the time. Sadly, the structure was razed in 2014.

Rondout, N.Y. Bank Issued Fascinating Varieties in all Series

The First National Bank of Rondout, N.Y. is one of the most fascinating national banks I have encountered in all my years of analyzing national bank notes. I like technical issues that caused varieties on notes and it doesn't get better than with this bank.

Just about everything peculiar that could happen, happened!

The bank was chartered in 1863 with charter number 34. It was organized under the Act of Feb. 25, 1863, wherein the bankers got to select the length of their corporate life. The bank was forced to liquidate and reorganize in 1880 under charter 2493 because the bankers had chosen a corporate life of less than 20 years and their clock was running out.

The Comptroller, in the interests of economy, had the BEP reuse the old plates for the new bank, something that happened for only a handful of banks across the country. The result was a trove of $5 Original/1875 plate varieties.

By the time the bank was reorganized in 1880, the town Rondout had been annexed to Kingston, so the town wasn't right on the old plates. This situation festered for 40 years to the end of the Series of 1882. Finally, the Comptroller imposed a town name change on the bank by adding Kingston to their existing title. This yielded "The First National Bank of Rondout, Kingston," which showed up on the Series of 1902 and 1929 notes. Kingston appears inconspicuously in the postal location on the 1902 notes, whereas it screams for attention on the 1929 notes.

The most interesting plate varieties were the $5 Original/1875s. They sported various act approval dates, two plate dates, three different Treasury signatures pairs, and, for the true die-hards, different face vignette varieties.

A national bank is a legal entity that conducts its business at a specific location—or locations if permitted by state law. It operates under a franchise granted by the Comptroller of the Currency as authorized by Congress. As such, it has a title approved by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Figure 1. Series of 1882, 1902 and 1929 subjects for charter 2493. The title should have been The First National Bank of Rondout, Kingston, but Kingston was omitted by the bankers from the title on their organization certificate. Kingston was placed in the postal location on the Series of 1902 notes at the direction of the Comptroller's clerks. Kingston finally found prominence on the Series of 1929 notes.

The formal—legal—definition of a bank title as used by the Comptroller of the Currency during the note-issuing era was: the name of the bank including the name of town, but not that of the state.

Bankers filed an organization certificate with the Comptroller of the Currency's office when they applied to establish a national bank. The most recent form for organization certificates used by note-issuing banks contained the following language:

First. The title of the association shall be “_____”

 Second. The said association shall be located in the _____ of _____, county of _____ and State of _____, where its operations of discount and deposit are to be carried on.

The title of the bank was to be placed inside the quotes printed on the form. The first blank under Second described the legal standing of the town under applicable state law; that is, the word “city,” “town,” “village,” “borough,” etc., was to be inserted. This was followed by the name of the town in the next blank.

This form morphed slightly over time, but always was imperfect because there was ambiguity about how it should be filled out. Many applicants did not understand that they were to incorporate the name of their town inside the quotes in the blank for the bank title because there was a second blank that also called for the town. Consequently, many applicants omitted the town thus producing an incomplete title. Others incorporated a location within the quotes that was somehow deficient.

When the Comptroller’s office received an organization certificate, the banker’s title was passively accepted as was even though it didn’t meet the definition of a title because the town was missing or deficient. Instead of bouncing it back to the organizers with a request for repairs, the faulty title was treated as sacrosanct.

The protocol was to place the title exactly as received inside the quotes from the bankers, including all punctuation, above the will-pay line within the title blocks regardless of completeness, grammatical syntax or how awkward it sounded.

A space was reserved on the left side of title blocks opposite the plate date that generally was used to specify the postal location of the bank. That name was written rather inconspicuously in script. In most cases, the name of the town was repeated both in the title and in the postal location.

However, in cases where (1) the town was omitted or (2) the name submitted was deemed to be deficient, the Comptroller’s clerks would place the town or the corrected town name in the postal location. Thus, the title submitted by the bankers on display above the will-pay line coupled with the town inserted in the postal location by the clerks served to satisfy the Comptroller’s definition of a bank title. The sole objective of this machination was to provide sufficient information on the note to allow a note holder to find the bank in order to redeem the note for lawful money

One of the most interesting examples of a Comptroller-imposed town name change resulting from an annexation involved The First National Bank of Rondout, N.Y. (2493). This situation requires a bit of background.

The First National Bank of Rondout was chartered in 1863, under charter 34, in the village of Rondout. Rondout was a bustling port that straddled Rondout Creek just upstream from where it flows from the southwest into the Hudson River. The village had been incorporated in 1849. The strategic importance of Rondout was that it was the major port on the Hudson River at the eastern terminus of the 108-mile-long Delaware and Hudson Canal built in the late 1820s to transport coal from the vicinity of Honesdale, Pa., in the Delaware River Basin. The town was in a narrow valley with the village of Kingston on the higher ground to the northwest.

There was uncertainty in the early 1880s about passage of an act that would allow for a corporate extension, so bank officers facing expiration began to get nervous. They could gamble on possible extinction of their bank as they sat around awaiting legislation that would allow for extensions, or they could preemptively liquidate their bank and reorganize it as a new bank. The officers of 75 banks decided to liquidate and reorganize. The first of these was The First National Bank of Rondout because the bankers had chosen a corporate life of less than 20 years so liquidation was eminent in 1880.

The First National Bank of Rondout (34), was liquidated Oct. 30, 1880, and a new bank with the same title and officers was organized October 15 to replace it. The successor received charter 2493 on Oct. 18, 1880.

However, the villages of Rondout and Kingston had merged to form the city of Kingston eight years before in 1872. This is the joker in this tale.

The organization report for the new bank reveals that the bank title submitted by the bankers remained “The First National Bank of Rondout.” The bankers or their lawyer omitted Kingston from inside the quotes on their organization certificate. However, Kingston was correctly inserted in the blank calling again for the town. The clerks in the Comptroller’s office failed to acknowledge Kingston as either the town or post office at the time the bank was chartered or in subsequent paperwork.

In fact, as an expedient, the Comptroller directed the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to alter the existing Series of 1875 plates previously used for charter 34 for use by the new bank. This was done by leaving the title as The First National Bank of Rondout and the postal location written in script as Rondout, but updating the plate date and Treasury signatures. Consequently, Kingston was missing from all the Series of 1875 plates and subsequent 1882 plates used to print notes for the new bank. See Figure 1.

The Comptroller's clerks finally noted on their ledgers that the post office was Kingston when the bank was extended for a second time in 1920. They ordered the Series of 1902 plates to read The First National Bank of Rondout, with Kingston in script. This constituted an informal Comptroller-imposed town name change wherein the title technically became "The First National Bank of Rondout, Kingston." Rondout was in effect relegated to district status within Kingston, probably as the bankers had intended in 1880.

When the Series of 1929 notes were printed, the Comptroller's clerks ordered them to read The First National Bank of Rondout, Kingston. Thus, the Comptroller-imposed town name change was in prominent display on the small size notes.

This is a case involving a Comptroller-imposed town name change that was not caused by bankers trying to avoid the costs of new plates, at least not for charter 2493. Rather, it was a belated attempt on the part of the Comptroller's office to correct an improperly filled out organization certificate submitted by the bankers back in 1880.

The Comptroller's decision to recycle the existing plates for charter 34 in 1880 was not appropriate for charter 2493, because the language on the plates did not acknowledge that Kingston was where the bank was located. Consequently, the Comptroller's office was culpable in this chain of events.

The $5 Original/1875 series plates used by the two banks have one of the most convoluted histories involving national bank notes.

Four different Series of 1875 plate combinations were used by charter 34; specifically, 1-1-1-2, 5-5-5-5, 10-10-10-10 and 20-20-20-50. All but the 1-1-1-2 were altered for use by 2493. This was accomplished by updating the plate dates to November

2, 1880, and changing the Treasury signatures to Schofield-Gilfillan.

The $5 A-B-C-D plate for 34 was a Continental Bank Note Company Original Series plate that carried an 1863 act approval date and Chittenden-Spinner Treasury signatures. The act approval date remained unchanged when the plate was altered by the BEP into a Series of 1875 form, but the Treasury signatures were updated to Allison-New, both of which were appropriate.

When the plate was altered for use by charter 2493—a bank organized under the Act of 1864—the now obsolete 1863 act approval date was grandfathered in the lower margin. The plate date was changed to November 2, 1880, and the Treasury signatures were updated to Schofield-

Gilfillan. The plate still carried the original variety 2 vignettes. Thus, it carried the wrong act approval date and vignettes that greatly predated the variety 4 vignettes in use in 1880!

Eventually two $5 Series of 1875 duplicate plates were made for 2493, respectively lettered E-F-G-H and I-J-K-L. They were made with an 1864 act approval date and contemporary variety 4 vignettes.

All totaled there were three different configurations for the first plate. The two duplicates represented a fourth configuration. What more could a technophile ask for? Pulling together a set of notes from them would be a considerable challenge.

Just a quick note about the vignettes on the faces of $5 Original/1875 notes. Four pairs of distinctly different vignettes were used on those notes. They have been described in the literature in great detail. Suffice it to say that you can readily see an obvious difference between the right vignettes on Figures 4 and 5 by comparing the shapes of the top of the tree to the left of the 5 in the upper right corner. Of course, there are numerous other differences.

PAPER MONEY MARKET

MARCH 2023 U.S. Paper Money Price Guide

Range of Bargains Available for Every Collector

The FUN SHOW offered an amazing array of Nationals, 764 and Large Size notes, 403. Values ranged from $360,000 for an 1880 $1,000 note in PMG 35 and $336,000 for a $100 Watermelon Treasury note. California Gold Nationals topped out with a $192,000 $50 from a San Francisco First National Gold Bank charter 1160. Regular Nationals were topped by a $168,000 "Walla Walla" Washington $5 1875 Territorial Charter 2380 in PMG 30 EPQ. Two other Nationals registered $144,000 each for a $10 Plain Back in PMG 12 from the First National Bank of Puerto Rico, charter 6484 and a $100 1875 Philadelphia Charter number 1 in PMG 35. Fractional notes were underrepresented at FUN with only 11 notes, but the notes that were present were spectacular. A 25 cent perforated note, FR. 1282 brought $3,360 in PMG 65. A 15 cent Fr.1273 Specimen in PMG64 realized $6,000. A Lincoln 50 cent in PMG64 brought $5,520, and a .50 PCGS in 67 garnered $2,880.

In the Encased Postage genre, a 12 cent Ayer's Large Sarsaparilla in XF sold for $31,200, a 24 cent Bates Fancy Goods in AU made $24,000, a 90 cent Burnetts Cooking Extract in XF went for $19,200 while another 90 cent Gault brought $16,800. Small Size notes were also limited, but high grade 1928 Silver $1s were very strong, as were Number one notes, contrary to my comments last month, at which several readers let me know. Instead of saying that No. ones brought around $1,500 I should have adopted Auctioneers language and said $1,500 and up. The quite rare 1928 B $2 star in PMG 15 condition sold for $9,900, as one of 8 known. A 1928E $2 star in 64 scored $26,400. One of my favorite notes, a 1935 $1 Mule star in 64 only made $3,120 in contrast to $5,000 a while back and a high water mark of $8,000 in the pre-recession era of 2008. Large Size notes did well, as mentioned earlier in this column, but only in strong conditions and not when plagued by pin holes, minor repairs or not in PMG/PCGS holders that withheld the EPQ or PPQ descriptions. Gold notes showed strength and the cancelled $10,000 gold notes of the Fr.1225 group also showed strength in higher conditions. High denomination 1928 Gold certificates were also strong. Last issue I discussed Mules in some depth. I neglected to discuss Large Size Mules. Mules in this area generally occur in long running issues such as $1 Black Eagles, $5 Indian Chiefs, and $10 Buffalos. Because these backs as well as new face plates with new signature combinations extend over a long period, new plates for reverses are also produced. Basically, Mules are face and back plates that are not produced for the same issue. Rather, they are older back plates matched with newer issues because they are still usable. The new back plates sometimes have different locations for plate numbers than the older plates. When different issue plates are mixed, Mules occur. They have the same 1/2 millimeter sized numbering, but, they are just located in a different spot than is called for by the newer face plate they are married with. Sunken Treasure Auction Offers Bank Notes

A $1 note issued by Manufacturers and Traders Bank of Buffalo, N.Y. is among the bank notes from the S.S. Central America purser's safe and is one of the recovered artifacts from the ship that sank in 1857 in the March 4-5, 2023 auction by Holabird Western Americana Collections. (Photo credit: Holabird Western Americana Collections.)

Historic numismatic items, including a nearly two-pound Kellogg & Humbert assayer's gold ingot, are included in the second and final auction of never-before-offered California Gold Rush artifacts recovered from the 1857 sinking of the fabled "Ship of Gold," the S.S. Central America. The auction will be conducted in Reno, Nev. and online by Holabird Western Americana Collections, LLC (www.HolabirdAmericana.com) on March 4-5, 2023.

Among the nearly 500 other recovered items in the auction are an intact treasure shipment box, a contemporary counterfeit Mexican gold coin, jewelry made from Gold Rush ore and nuggets, bank notes, coin shipment bags, and leather pokes that had carried miners' gold and other belongings on the voyage. Even "Nemo," the 12,000-pound robot submarine that located and retrieved the treasure, is in the auction.

Numismatic-related highlights include a 32.15-ounce Kellogg & Humbert ingot stamped 882 fine gold and with the assayer's value at the time indicated as $586.17.

"Augustus Humbert and John Glover Kellogg are among the most famous assayers in California Gold Rush history. Kellogg & Humbert opened for business in early 1855 and were among the most active and prolific issuers of gold ingots and coins during the mid-1850s," said Dwight Manley, managing partner of California Gold Marketing Group, the consignor of the sunken treasure.

The auction also offers a contemporary counterfeit Mexican 8 Escudos "gold" coin dated 1853.

"There were five Mexican gold coins mixed in with dozens of U.S. and world coins in a canvas bag in the ship's purser's safe when we recovered it in 2014. Two were genuine gold and copper alloy Mexican coins and three were counterfeits like this one in the auction, composed of a gold and silver alloy," explained Bob Evans, Chief Scientist of the S.S. Central America Project who was on each of the recovery missions.

The coin has been encapsulated by Professional Coin Grading Service in a special holder with a compartment containing a “pinch” of recovered gold dust. The encapsulation label reads: 1853-GoPM 8 Esc / PCGS / Contemporary / Counterfeit.

The auction catalog contains an extensive explanation of Mexican counterfeit coins and why the five 8 Escudo gold pieces may have been in the safe of the S.S. Central America Purser, Edward W. Hull.

There is also the only known, complete treasure box from the 1850s California Gold Rush period. An embossed wax seal on the box is still easily readable as “Alsop & Co.,” renowned merchants and gold treasure shippers of the era.

Six more bank notes discovered in the purser’s safe will be offered: a $5 note from North River Bank of New York; a $20 note from the North River Bank of New York; a $1 note issued by Manufacturers and Traders Bank of Buffalo, New York (Haxby G2a); a $5 note from Lee Bank in Lee, Massachusetts; $10 Bank of Hallowell, Maine (Haxby G10); and $2 Wrentham, Massachusetts Bank (Haxby G22).

“A total of eleven bank notes were found in the purser’s safe and three of them were issued by North River Bank. Interestingly, that bank was liquidated in October 1857, just weeks after the Central America was scheduled to return to New York,” said Holabird.

“The S.S. Central America was carrying tons of Gold Rush treasure from San Francisco and the northern California area when she sank 7,200 feet deep in the Atlantic off the North Carolina coast in a hurricane while on a voyage from Panama to

New York City in September 1857. Recovery from the shipwreck site occurred in several stages between 1988-1991 and again in 2014,” explained Evans.

Holabird Western Americana Collections, LLC has prepared an extensive catalog with many illustrations of the S.S. Central America recovery operations in 3-D. Copies of the March 2023 auction catalog are available for $100 each with the price refundable with any purchase from the auction.

All items in the auction are being offered unreserved. For additional information about the auction, visit Holabird Western Americana Collections of Reno, Nevada at www.HolabirdAmericana.com, call 775-851-1859, or email info@holabirdamericana.com.

U.S. Currency Sales Announced

World Banknote Auctions has announced its upcoming U.S. Currency Sale 1, featuring a wide range of rare and collectible bank notes from the United States. The auction will take place on February 24 on the firm’s website and will feature notes from the colonial era to modern times, including scarce large-size notes, fractional currency, and error notes.

Highlights of the sale include a rare 1934 $5,000 Federal Reserve Note from the Dallas District graded PMG Choice Uncirculated 64, a unique 12-piece 1999 $10 district set with Solid Serial Number 9 and a PMG Choice Uncirculated 64 EPQ 1869 $5 Legal Tender Note. These notes are highly sought after by collectors and investors and are expected to fetch significant prices at auction.

In addition to the rare notes, the sale will also feature a selection of more affordable notes for the budget-conscious collector. These notes are a great opportunity for novice collectors to start building their collection or for experienced collectors to add to their existing collection. The auction will be held online and will be open for bidding to the public.

1934 $5,000 Federal Reserve Note from the Dallas District

World Banknote Auctions has also listed part 1 of the Navy Commander Collection of U.S. National and Gold Banknotes, which will take place on March 10. This collection features a wide variety of National and Gold bank notes from the late 19th and early 20th century. The focus is on California banks, but the sale also includes select key notes from around the country. Highlights include a $10 Gold note from the First National Bank of Oakland, Calif. graded Fine 12 by PMG, an 1882 $50 Date Back on the Citizens National Bank of Los Angeles, Calif. graded Very Fine 25 by PMG and only the third mismatched prefix on a National bank note, a 1929 Type 1 $10 on the First National Bank of Boston, Mass., graded Very Fine 25 by PMG. This collection is a treasure trove of banknote history that will appeal to collectors and investors alike.

Both auctions will be held online and both catalogs have been posted for immediate viewing and bidding. A printed catalog has been prepared for the Navy Commander Collection and is available from the company by request.

Unique Set of 12 Solid-9 Serial Number Notes Offered

A set of 12 U.S. bank notes featuring Solid-9 Serial Numbers is being offered at auction. Several weeks before the sale, bidding has already reached $100,000 for the unique set, which is part of World Banknote Auctions' U.S. Currency Sale 1 being held on Feb. 24, 2023.

The set comprises 12 PMG-graded 1999 $10 Federal Reserve Notes with Solid-9 Serial Numbers (lot 1146). It has an estimate of $150,000-$250,000 and it includes one note from each Federal Reserve District bank.

The set's 1999 $10 Federal Reserve Notes are:

- a Boston district note with serial number BA99999999Y graded PMG 67 Superb Gem Uncirculated EPQ
- a New York district note with serial number BB99999999Y graded PMG 67 Superb Gem Uncirculated EPQ

Because of a policy adopted by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing after the 1974 Series that halted all print runs at 96 million, Solid-9 Serial Numbers on $10 notes from the last few decades are extremely rare. Most of the ones available were part of two sets of 12 notes (one from each Federal Reserve District bank) that were sold by the BEP.

This set of 12 notes was made when the "Big Head" design on the $10 was introduced in 2000, and a special set of notes with matching serial numbers was produced by the BEP. A total of two thousand matching serial number sets of the last "Small Head" design (Series 1995) and 2,000 sets of the new design (including the ones in the current auction) were produced. With each set's serial numbers starting at 99997999, the very last set had the notes with the highly sought-after Solid-9 Serial Number.

Bob Liddell posed a great question. How did The New England National Bank of Kansas City, Mo. end up with that name. The short answer is that it was named after the New England Building, the then tallest building in town. The building is located at the heart of the business district at 112 West 9th (northeast corner of 9th and Wyandotte) in what is called the Library District. The building is now an apartment complex.

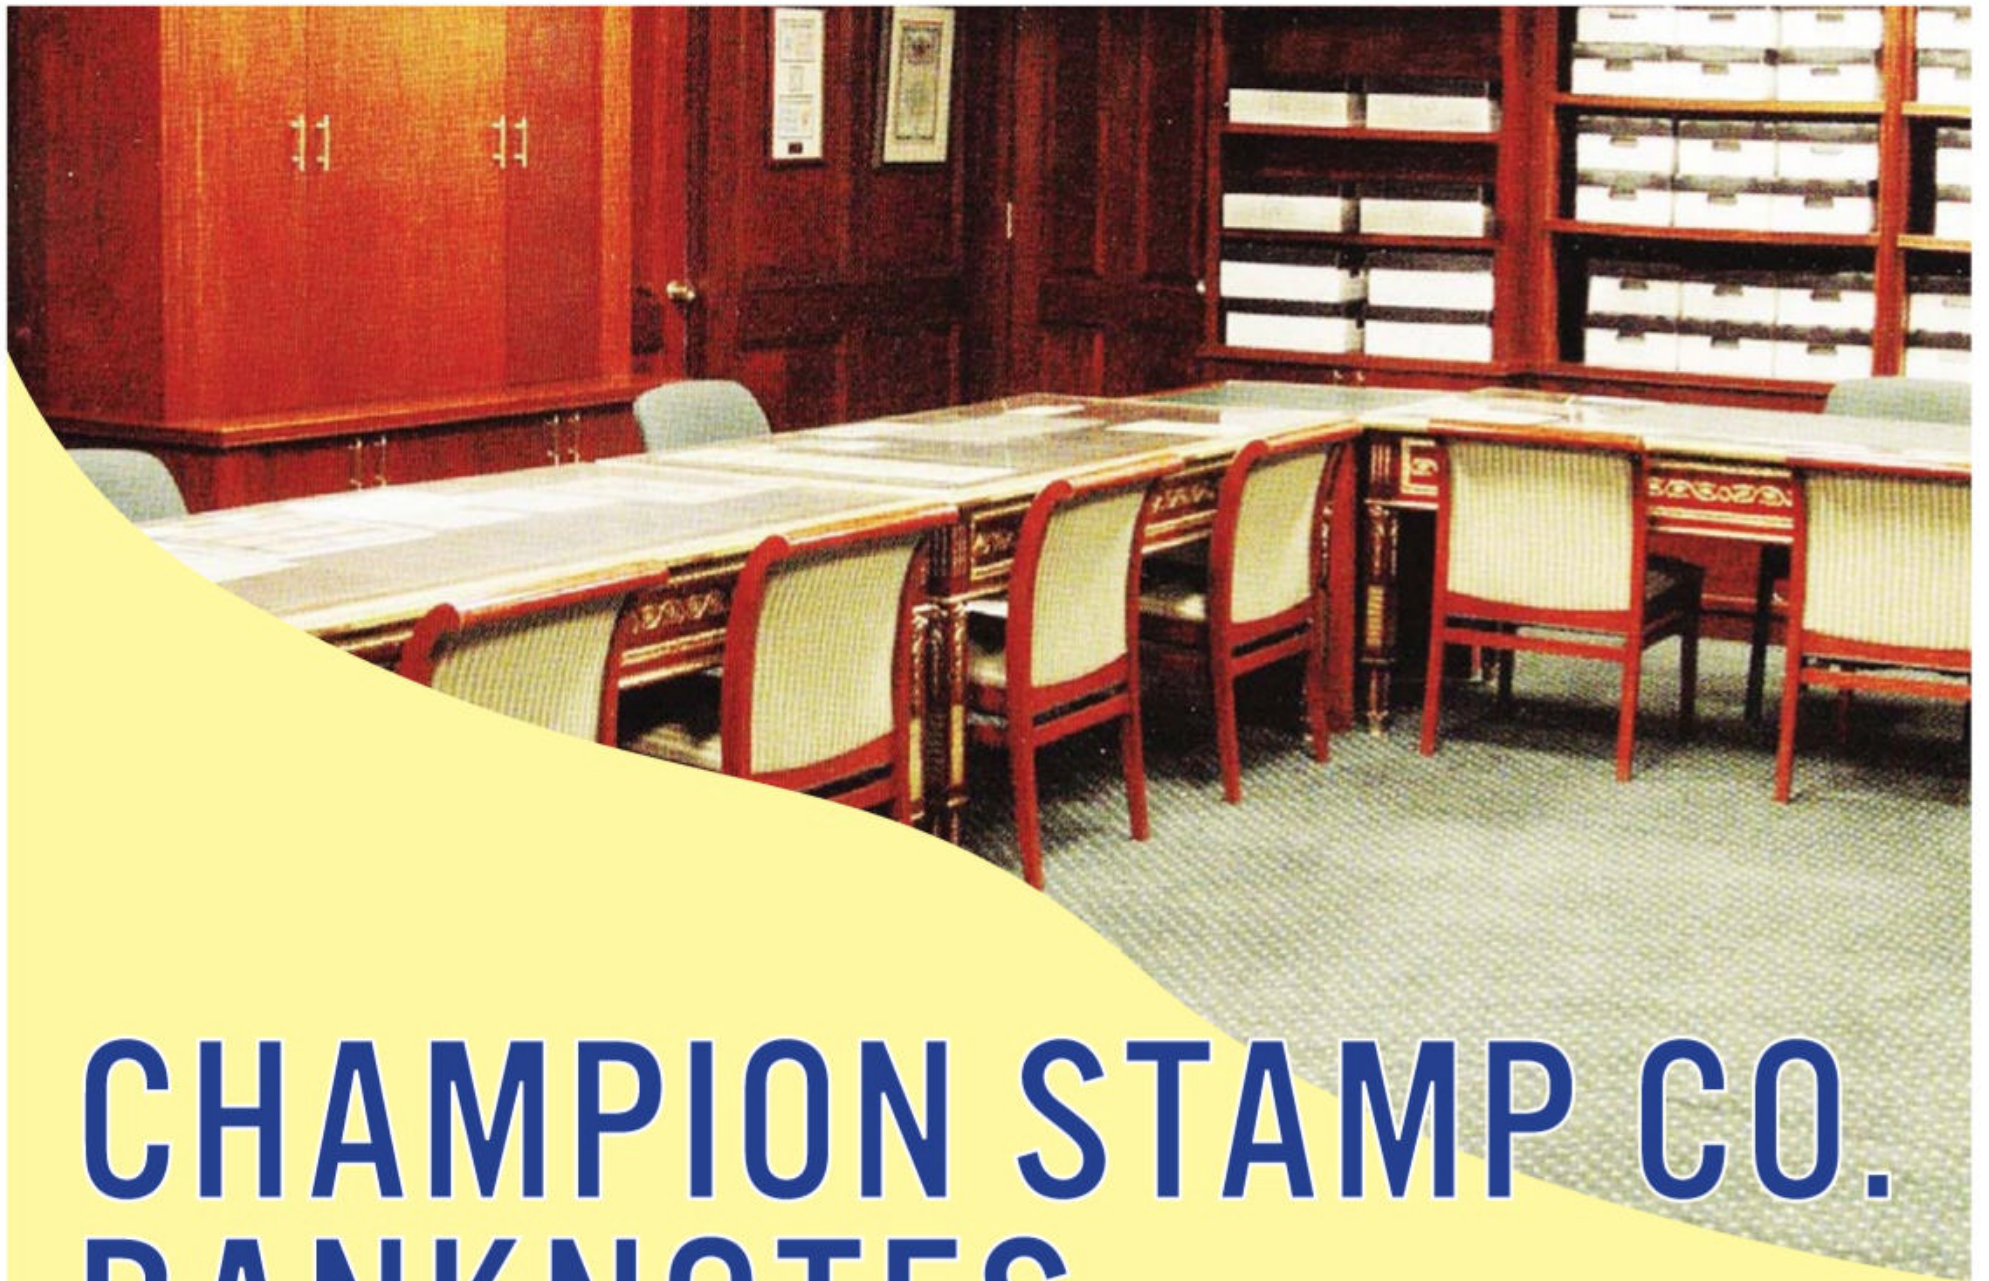

In the vocabulary of Mark Hotz, the building is a handsome Massachusetts brownstone Italian Neo-Renaissance style structure that was constructed to house the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. It was erected in 1887-8 as a show of faith by Boston investors in the business future of Kansas City. Each of the seven floors has two walk-in vaults. The defining exterior architectural feature is the two-story tall oriel bay windows at the corner of the 3rd and 4th floors with outstanding carved arabesque stonework highlighted by the state seals of Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut. The Massachusetts seal is below the central 4th floor window and the other five in the panels below the five 3rd floor windows of the oriel.

The 5,000 square feet of the first floor was occupied by The New England Safe Deposit and Trust Company established in 1889 by John Downing, its president. It sported the 2nd largest vault in the country, bested only by that of the Fidelity in Cincinnati. The vault is accessed through two doors weighing in at 4 tons each. The New England National Bank of Kansas City—organized July 25, 1898, chartered September 7th—with the same officers succeeded The New England Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

A new bank, The New England National Bank and Trust Company in Kansas City, was chartered April 18, 1925 under number 12,686. The New England National was liquidated and folded into it on July 14, 1925. J. F. Porter continued to serve as president. The new bank didn't issue national bank notes and liquidated December 31, 1928, having been consolidated into Fidelity National Bank and Trust Company of Kansas City, charter 11344. The Fidelity National in turn was liquidated Nov. 24, 1933, and succeeded by The Union National Bank in Kansas City, charter 13736. The Union National was a non-issuing bank.

My article in the April 2020 BNR pertaining to the scarcity of Series of 1882 $10 through $100 brown backs with vertical charter numbers struck a chord with Steve Schroeder. He wrote that they are particularly scarce from Minnesota and he had looked for one for years, finally landing this Mankato in the April 2019 Heritage sale. We mobilized a number of key Minnesota collectors to determine just how scarce they were. Our finding was that 118 Minnesota banks issued notes from 10-10-10-20 or 50-100 sheets or both. 38 of those banks, one with three different titles, issued the vertical charter variety. Currently there are 158 $10, $20, $50 and $100 brown backs from the 10-10-10-20 and 50-100 sheets in the Minnesota census. Once we turned over every rock available to us, we found exactly two of them have the vertical charter variety, both $10s. The other is from The Union National Bank of Minneapolis, charter 2795, bearing serial A164849-545-A in about the same grade as the Mankato. Yes, they are scarce.

This is not a huge surprise because the vertical charter numbers were phased out in September 1890. The Series of 1882 had been running for eight years by then, but would run for another 18 years. Our finding simply speaks to the terrible attrition of early notes. When you contemplate situations like this, remember that the entire circulation of the typical bank turned over about every 2-1/2 to 3-1/2 years, so the early notes took a serious hit. The reality was that when a note left the doors of the issuing bank, that was its death knell.

Historic World War II “Short Snorter” Display at the National Money Show

World War II short snorter signed by future U.S. President, General Dwight D. Eisenhower

Visitors to the American Numismatic Association (ANA) 2023 National Money Show® (www.NationalMoneyShow.com) in Phoenix, Ariz., March 2-4, can see the unprecedented, 64-foot-long display of “short snorter” bank notes autographed by World War II-era dignitaries. The exhibit, courtesy of the nonprofit Short Snorter Project (www.ShortSnorter.org), features over 300 signatures of generals, admirals, presidents, prime ministers, and ambassadors.

“This display of 140 historic bank notes will be of great interest to veterans and collectors of militaria. It includes five complete sets of rare specimen-marked Allied Military Currency,” said Tom Sparks, Founder of The Short Snorter Project.

The tradition of signing bank notes apparently began in 1925 with Alaskan bush pilots. The term “short snort” was a slang expression for less than a full shot glass of liquor, and “short snorter” became a nickname for pilots who moderately enjoyed only a small drink or two before flying. The autographs on the paper money were typically obtained while the dignitaries or others were traveling together, usually in flight.

“This unprecedented collection was assembled by United States Air Force Major General Clayton Lawrence Bissell (1893 – 1972) and is now owned by former American Numismatic Association President Jeff Garrett who is loaning it for the exhibit at the ANA convention in Phoenix,” explained Sparks.

According to Sparks, autographs on the notes include U.S. Presidents Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt and future President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he was an active duty General, as well as presidents of eight other countries. Prime Ministers’ signatures include Britain’s Winston Churchill.

In addition to Eisenhower, the many notable military leaders represented are U.S. Generals James Doolittle, Douglas MacArthur, George C. Marshall, and George S. Patton. Famous U.S. Admirals include William “Bull” Halsey Jr. and Chester Nimitz.

The exhibit will be in booths 1120 – 1126 in Hall F of the Phoenix Convention Center, 100 N. 3rd Street in downtown Phoenix.

Sparks will conduct a Money Talks educational presentation about the collection, “The Short Snorter of Major General Clayton Lawrence Bissell, US Army Air Service,” at 3 pm on Friday, March 3, in room 154 of the convention center.

Public hours for the ANA 2023 Phoenix National Money Show are Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3 from 10 am to 5:30 pm, and Saturday, March 4, from 10 am to 3:30 pm.

Mexican Currency Reform

By Richard Giedroyc

All coins and bank notes of Mexico are in the process of being changed. Perhaps the most noticeable change will be that the 20-peso bank note will be replaced with a coin.

According to a Bank of Mexico (Banxico) statement, "The bank notes and coins in the withdrawal process still retain their liberating power; that is, they are worth the denomination they indicate, but by resolution of the Bank of Mexico they will be withdrawn from circulation through the banks."

Ironically, the current 20-peso bank note, first introduced on Sept. 24, 2021, was awarded as the most beautiful bank note in Latin America in the Best New Commemorative Bill in Latin America by High-Speed Printing the same year. High-Speed Printing Inc. is based in Hacienda Heights, California.

The release of the note was timed to be the day the Bicentennial of the Consummation of Independence was celebrated. The note will cease production during 2023 and will "cease to circulate" in 2025 when it is to be replaced by 20-peso coins. Sources indicated the logic is that the notes will be worn out by the time they have circulated for two years. The same source said the central bank was planning to replace the note with a coin two years after the release of the note.

The soon to be withdrawn note is multicolor but predominantly green and red printed on polymer. A vignette on the front represents the consummation of the historical process of the Independence of Mexico, represented by a fragment of the artistic work of an anonymous author of the entry of the Triguarante Army into Mexico City on Sept. 27, 1821.

A Mexican crocodile and the chocolate heron in the Sian Ka'an Biosphere Reserve in Quintana Roo representing the biosphere mangrove ecosystem appears in a vignette on the back.

The note uses innovative feature anti-counterfeiting features within the vignettes including special orientation of images. The front is depicted horizontally, while the back is presented vertically.

the note were introduced in 2021. The 30-millimeter diameter coins have an aluminum-bronze ring and a copper-nickel-zinc central plug. The coin is dodecagon in shape, has a milled edge, and was issued initially as any of three circulating commemoratives. The common obverse depicts Mexico's national emblem, but the reverse was issued marking the 200 years of Mexican independence, 700 years of the Fundación Lunar de México-Tenochtitlan, or 500 years of Historical Memory of Mexico City.

Mexico is in the process of withdrawing many of its past bank notes including the 20-peso on which a vignette of Benito Juárez, 50 peso on which Jose Maria Morelos y Pavon, 100 peso on which Nezahualcoyotl, 200 peso on which Juana de Asbaje, 500 peso on which Ignacio Zaragoza, and 1,000 peso on which Miguel Hidalgo v Costilla appear in vignettes on the front.

Other bank notes announced to be in the process of withdrawal include all of those in Family B issued in 1993, Family C of 1994, Family D of 1996, Family D1 issued between 2001 and 2005, and the Family F 1,000-peso of 2008.

Coins that will be withdrawn include the Series B 10, 20, and 50 new pesos introduced in 1993; and the Series C 10 and 20 Turn of the Millennium commemoratives and the 100 peso. The Spanish word nuevo translating to new in English was removed from peso denominated coins in 1996. The 20 and 100 peso being officially withdrawn each have a silver central plug. The coins have the distinction of being the only currently circulating coins in the world that contains silver, although for that reason the coins are almost never used. The 100-peso plug contains a half troy ounce of silver. The metal value exceeded the face value of the coin around 2010.

Details of most coins and all bank notes that will replace those being withdrawn were not available at the time this article was being written.
